<模範解答>

I disagree with the opinion that work is the most important thing in life, though many Japanese, especially elderly people, may agree to this idea.

I think Japanese people generally work too hard, at the sacrifice of communication among family members. They work from early in the morning till late at night without talking to their children and wives. That's completely crazy.

My father is also a hard worker. He doesn't spend much time with us except on the weekend. I don't remember seeing him on weekdays when I was in elementary school, though he certainly commuted from home to his office. He always said he was too busy and too tired when he was at home. I wanted him to talk with us about many topics I didn't understand well then, such as social problems, books, and movies, instead of talking about his complaints. I doubt if he was really satisfied with his life then, though he looked happy. I wonder if he will find something enjoyable after retirement because he also sacrifices his hobby.

Communication among family members should be more important than work. It may decrease bullying problems at school. People should enjoy their own lives, rather than work, and spend more time with their children. ※簡単な英語でいいから、上の形にあてはめて英語を書こう! ダラダラと書いても英米人は読んでくれない。

【例題2】 小学校で英語を教えることに関してあなたの意見を述べよ。

[部分的賛成]

[反対]

I agree with the opinion that English should be taught at elementary school on condition that the students are not graded or have to take exams for that subject.

It is true that English is becoming more and more important in the world today, and as studies show, the earlier they begin studying it, the easier it is.

On the other hand, school children today have a lot to learn, and it will be too much for them to study English. If they are made to study English, they will just hate it.

I think it would be ideal if they could have an opportunity to learn English just for fun.

I don't agree with the opinion that English should be taught at elementary school.

Of course, English is very important in the world today, and it may be true that the earlier children begin learning English, the easier it is. However, school children already have too much to learn, and it will be too heavy a burden for them to have to learn something else.

Even if they are forced to learn English, it will only cause them to hate it.
